

Randy Tsuda

President and CEO | Palo Alto Housing

Randy Tsuda joined Palo Alto Housing in 2018 after serving as the Mountain View Community Development Director for over 10 years. His career includes experience in the non-profit, private, and public sectors, and spans real estate, city planning, affordable housing, and economic development. He has worked on projects that received awards from the American Planning Association, American Society of Landscape Architects, and in May 2018 his department received the “Bringing It Home” award from SV@Home, a policy and advocacy organization focused on increasing affordable housing. Randy was also a lecturer for seven years in the Urban and Regional Planning Program at San Jose State University.

Palo Alto Housing
2595 East Bayshore, Ste 200
Palo Alto Ca 94303
Phone: 650.321.9709
rtsuda@pah.community

Palo Alto Housing (PAH) is a leading developer and manager of affordable housing in Silicon Valley since its formation 50 years ago. PAH provides award-winning affordable housing and supports its residents in reaching their goals through its robust Resident Services program. PAH continues to expand its portfolio and focuses its future housing efforts in San Mateo and Santa Clara Counties PAH's mission is to create stronger, more diverse communities by providing and maintaining high-quality affordable housing where individuals and families thrive. PAH plays a leadership role in local and regional housing advocacy efforts.